Our cover and theme

Candlelight in the background signifies Faith, so indispensable when the going is rough.

The triangle and irregular line on the back cover symbolize the first stages of mental, social and physical development. The point where the line changes from brown to white marks the beginning of three years at Hilo High.

The School, is symbolized by the bold, prominent arches, subject of the year's theme. They call to mind the main purpose of the school: to educate and instill in each student a hunger for knowledge, better understanding of the World and clear thinking.

As a basketball coach he was and is unsurpassed . . . carrying the Viks through thirteen BIIF victories and ten Territorial championships, "Beans" made history with an amazing .928 winning percentage —192 victories against only fifteen losses—creating an interscholastic basketball dynasty. Farewell . . . one of basketball's eminent figures.

As an educator he is truly outstanding . . . Retiring after forty years of dedicated service, he leaves behind a blazing trail of educational accomplishments. Commencing his career at Hilo High in 1935 as one of our P.E. instructors, he unexpectedly switched from the noisy ruckus of the gym to the quiet solitude of his one-room office to counsel students in 1950. As both a teacher and counselor, students discovered a true and understanding friend. Farewell . . . Vik's own mentor.

As an individual he is remarkable and well-rounded . . . Enjoying outdoor sports, he can often be found at the Hilo Municipal Golf Course teeing off for a good game of golf. Given an ukulele he can serenade you for hours. Admired and respected he is an outstanding member of his community and an ambitious worker who has proven that one can be successful in whatever he undertakes. Always to be remembered . . . Ung Soy Afook, the man who made history!

The keystone, an essential part of the arch, keeps the structure from collapsing. It is the strength and support of the arch. The ADMINISTRATION, like the keystone, binds Hilo High School together with its guidance and concern for student welfare.

The 7:45 bell marked the start of another routine day at school for 71 faculty and 12 staff members. The ADMINISTRATION, a combination of an efficiently co-ordinated business department and a faculty, was the foundation of a progressive school.

To meet the needs of the growing enrollment, two teachers were added to the staff and two new courses.

The business department took care of bills, student schedules, new locks, lights and other classroom materials.

Every effort was made to cover all phases of reading, writing, speaking, listening, and thinking in the ENGLISH DEPARTMENT. The two major literary works included in Sophomore English were Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and Charles Dickens' Tale of Two Cities. After thorough readings, discussions and quizzes, "hidden talents" were given an opportunity to reveal themselves in skits.

Aware of the stress that is put on English in today's society, the students took active part in the annual Speech Festival. Supplementary activities included a special reading program, essay contest, the Lay Reader program, and plays. Two new courses, World Literature and Semantics, were introduced this year and a course in first year Dramatics has been planned for the fall of 1965.

They guided us

SOCIAL STUDIES, exciting to every student, is divided into three study sections.

Sophomores venture into the past and cover a detailed development of civilization from primitive man to modern man.

Juniors get a deeper insight into true citizenship with studies geared toward understanding our way of government.

Seniors concentrate on democracy, answering such questions as: Why is this system the best way in which man should be governed?

Stern but gentle

In addition to the standard courses, special courses have been introduced in the SCIENCE DEPARTMENT in recent years.

PSSC (Physical Science Study Committee) Physics introduced as a pilot course three years ago will eventually be used in instructing all students enrolled in physics. A course similar to this approach was introduced in the area of Chemistry under the heading of Chem Study Chemistry. It placed stress on laboratory experiments and demonstrations. Both courses were geared for the college preparatory student interested in the scientific field of study.

Local Plants and Animals was introduced two years ago in the Biology section, providing students with information, experiments, and a chance to discuss local plants and animals seldom found in mainland texts. Field trips were taken to collect plants and animals found on the Big Island.

Sometimes they hurt us

A wide variety of courses were offered aspiring business enthusiasts by the Business Education Department. One of these was a class in Notehand designed to aid college preparatory students in taking notes, doing reference work and preparing manuscripts.

The Cooperative Distributive Education course combined classroom work with on-the-job-training. Activities such 'as the annual Christmas gift wrapping project, operation of basketball concessions and conferences helped to develop competence and responsibility.

Although the VOCATIONAL DEPARTMENT is the answer to the ambitious student's requirements for special skills, there have been many taking these courses for pure interest or enjoyment. More and more girls have challenged in mechanical drawing classes the male students as they wield their pencils and rulers with skill and dexterity.

Another popular course is art. Students begin by learning to be expressive with a simple line and later struggle to design and paint original color wheels. Many found the textile unit the most unusual method taught as they learned to design various patterns for fabrics by using their initials and stylizing them.

And a lesson learned . . .

Aware of the emphasis that the late President John F. Kennedy put on youth fitness, the PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT planned a variety of sport and physical activities.

The girls seemed to find learning to dance the Alley Cat, Cha-cha, Rhumba, Waltz, and Fox Trot the most exciting part of the year. The boys took to water with the greatest enthusiasm. Learning the basic strokes—the "dog swim," the overhand, the back stroke, and advancing to safety jumping and diving held much interest for most.

The study of Health in both classes emphasized care of infants, first aid, and the purifying process of water.

forgiveness — acceptance

The SPECIAL EDUCATION classes gave students help through specifically planned curriculum. Studies covered basic English, mathematics, science, and units on everyday living and citizenship. Emphasis was an preparation for work after high school and students had supervised work training sessions at the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

A Reading Improvement program, initiated by Mr. James Mimaki, utilized such devices as: memorizing prefixes, using imagery to produce a more vivid picture of content, and reading between the lines to acquire more from the material. Definite progress in reading ability was noted in students participating.

Spanish, Japanese, Latin, and Hawaiian were offered in the FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT this year.

Writing and getting acquainted with the meaning of words was the first step in a language course. Grammar development, and the translation of interesting stories followed. The latter provided cultural tidbits as well as helpful information about the language. With this knowledge, students began conversation and language projects.

Membership of 650

As its main goal, the PTA strived to establish, maintain and improve a close relationship between parents and teachers. With a membership of 650 parents and teachers, their first meeting was held on October 7, at 7 o'clock in the school auditorium. After a brief business meeting, new members of the faculty were introduced to the membership and brief talks given by school board candidates. The major portion of the evening involved a panel discussion where teachers reported on the Hilo High curriculum.

On December 9, a parents-teachers night was held with parents going through two days of school and meeting with faculty members to learn first-hand about the curriculum of their children.

A PTA Dinner was carried out as part of the Founder's Day Program. After a large roast beef dinner, guests enjoyed a varied program.

Energetic, diligent workers

"Behind the scenes," Cafeteria Manager, Mrs. Vivian Leithead and her group composed of five adult helpers and twenty-two students worked ceaselessly to provide tasty, attractive, well-balanced meals for over 1,500 students. All is hard work and hardly any play. Menus are planned for a month in advance, with color combinations as well as nourishing meals in mind. Books must be kept up to date and a constant check made to insure that each student has a ¾ cup serving of fruit, two different vegetables, and two ounces of meat. Huge amounts of food such as 104 loaves of bread, 32 pounds of butter and 150-275 pounds of rice are used daily.

Our custodians spent endless hours maintaining equipment and keeping the campus spotless. When they could call their time their own, these energetic men made full use of their leisure hours.

The caring of a small anthurium patch began in 1939, but since, turned into a profitable part-time job for Masato Oda.

Never able to refuse the temptation of hunting, John Medeiros spends the majority of his spare time at either Pohakuloa or Pokayau Ranch hunting.

In ten years, Junichi Shimizu, has skillfully developed and raised over a hundred varieties of vanda hybrids and cataleyas. With a true "green thumb," he also raises and prepares anthuriums commercially.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The impost is the stem or base of the arch. Without the base, there would be no structure. The STUDENT GOVERNMENT is the base of student activities. Here, beliefs and ideals are formed and tested that better citizens may be developed for our society . . . citizens with a deeper understanding of our way of government and life.

Rap . . . rap . . . rap!

"Will the meeting please come to order?"

This was the scene when the Student Council met and worked on time-consuming problems such as amending our proposed constitution.

The Student Exchange Committee was organized to meet the increasing interest in establishing friendly relations with other schools. The need to recognize outstanding students prompted the Viking of the Month Committee. The Parliamentary Procedure Committee was introduced to better acquaint students with various procedures of government.

On November 26, 15 delegates left for Honolulu, Oahu, to attend the 25th Annual Convention of the Hawaii Association of Student Councils. Mrs. Elizabeth Minamide and Miss Loretta Akamu, Student Council advisers, accompanied the delegation.

Operating under Robert's Rules

For the Student Council Standing Committees, it was the year of little glory and work, work and more work.

Three new committees were formed to accommodate the needs of our ever-expanding student body. These were the Student Exchange Committee, Viking of the Month Committee, and the Parliamentary Procedure Workshop Committee. These committees played a major role in the successful ventures of the Student Council.

The media of communications was the Council meeting where they reported achievements and any matters which required the attention and the approval of the council. By doing the "odd jobs" they lessened the tasks of the Student Association and enabled them to devote more time to major problems and immediate needs.

Gaining and applying knowledge

The Junior Red Cross completed three big projects this year.

The Christmas Food Drive was held in November and December in place of the traditional Thanksgiving Food Drive. Canned goods and other non-perishable foods were given to the Salvation Army for distribution to needy families around the Island.

In the Valentine card project students made cards which were given to those in several Hilo hospitals who could not be with their loved ones on Valentine's Day.

Leis using all types of flowers were made in May to decorate the graves at the Cemetery of the Pacific at Punchbowl in Honolulu.

of Democracy

Recognizing the need for strict law enforcement, Commissioner Bradley Hara, reorganized the former JPO squad into a Campus Patrol unit of about a hundred juniors, representing the top third of their class. Seniors comprised the rest of the force and served mainly in the vice squad or as squad leaders.

The Vice Squad, headed by Barry Taniguchi and Harding Fragas was a walking patrol that went on duty every day, and was ever alert for campus violators.

Led by Assistant Commissioner Susan Ota, and ten squad captains—Norman Arai, Gary Yoshiyama, Rodney Hayashi, Joe Martin, Marilyn Sumiyoshi, Gary Motonaga, Bobbi Ishimaru, Glenn Matsuda, Dwayne Miyashiro, and John Kekua— the CPO's made systematic checks in an effort to prevent any wrong-doings. Members issued tickets for misdemeanors, and student offenders reported to adviser Tom Yamane.

Clanging typewriters and the hustle and bustle of a typical big city newsroom were very evident throughout the year in room 69, the "home of The Viking," Hilo High's bi-weekly newspaper.

Adviser Mrs. Yukino Fukabori started the year off by greeting the fourteen eager new students who signed up for Newswriting, and it wasn't too long before they had become accustomed to the production of a paper, had learned to write various types of news articles and had gotten to know the nine advanced staff members.

Besides learning about the technical aspects of newspaper work the staff also went on various excursions, held several parties, and produced special editions which included the Career Day Edition, Election Edition and the Senior Week Edition.

Highlights of the year was the annual SCOOP Conference which was held in Honolulu, at Kaimuki High School, during the President's Day weekend. Delegates from Hilo High participated in seven workshops and gained added knowledge that they used in the production of "The Viking."

Experiences enriching for all

With determination, the Blue and Gold staff advised by Mrs. Jean Shintani worked diligently to record the highlights, of the year. Forever overshadowed by deadlines, the class met during lunch hours, after school, and on weekends.

Under the guidance of Justin Wong, volunteer photographers exhausted themselves shooting, developing, and printing various activities which recorded life on campus.

In the later part of September, the Editors—Judi and Arleen, Business Manager—Akemi, Photographer—Glenn, accompanied by their advisers attended a yearbook clinic held at the Banquet Hall Auditorium in the Ala Moana Center, Honolulu, Hawaii. A first hand preview of the do's and don'ts of yearbooking dealing with such subjects as layouts, copy writing and fitting, and staff organization were presented by Otto W. Qwale, special workshop guest speaker.

STUDENT LIFE

The simplicity of the sweeping curve of the arch adds beauty, uniqueness and magnificence to an otherwise unappealing piece of stone. The curve distinguishes the arch from other architectural forms. The gay socials, effervescent cheering sections at our sports events, semester exams that required much preparation is like the curve. These events made STUDENT LIFE special; an experience to remember as being unique.

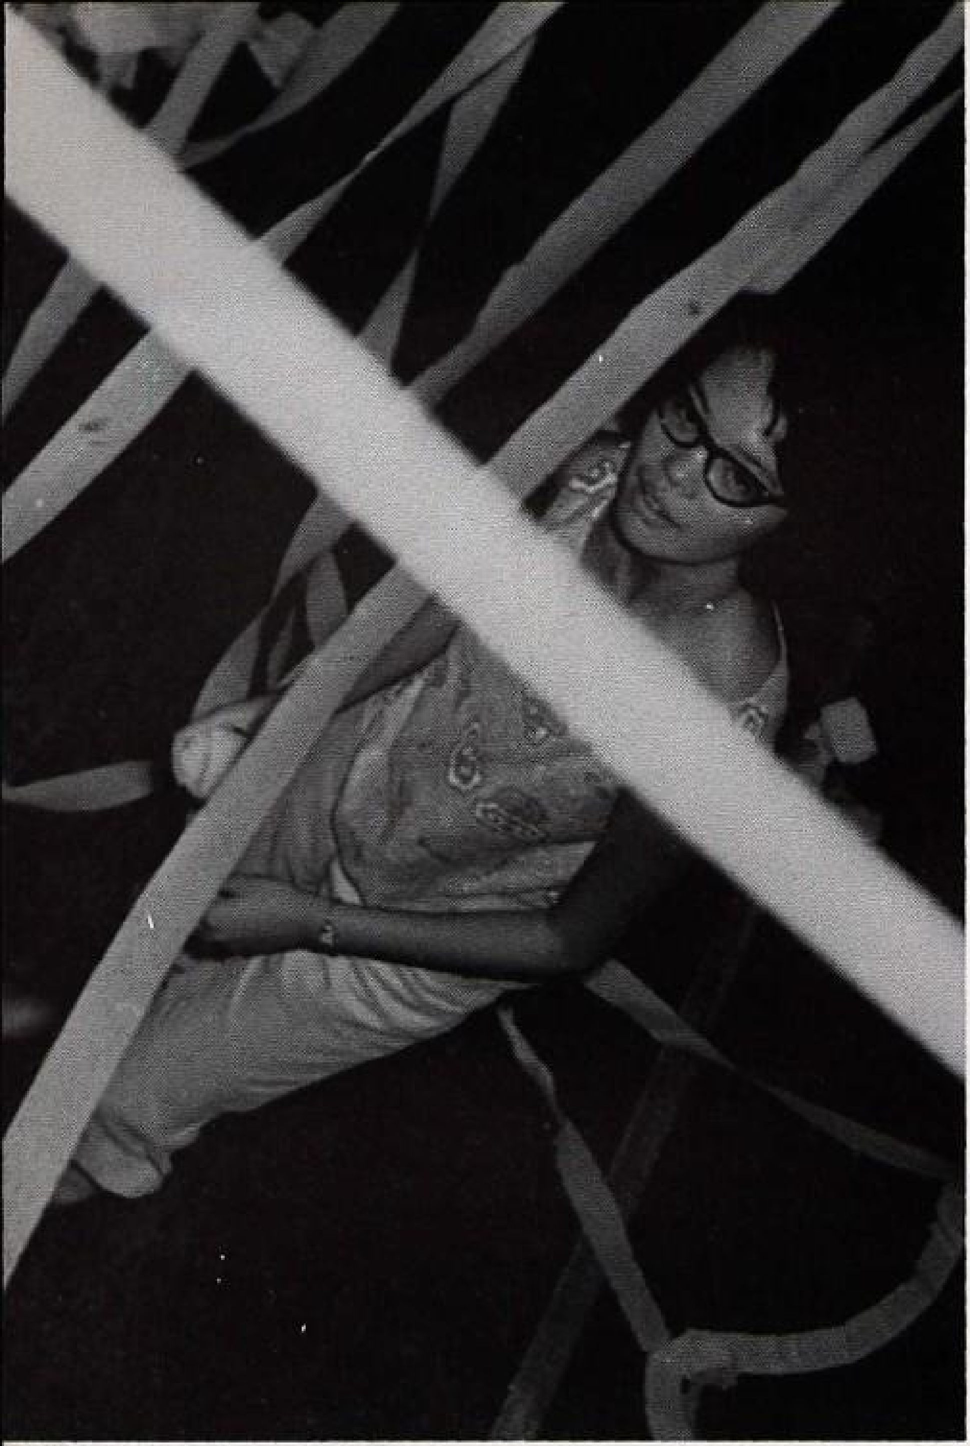
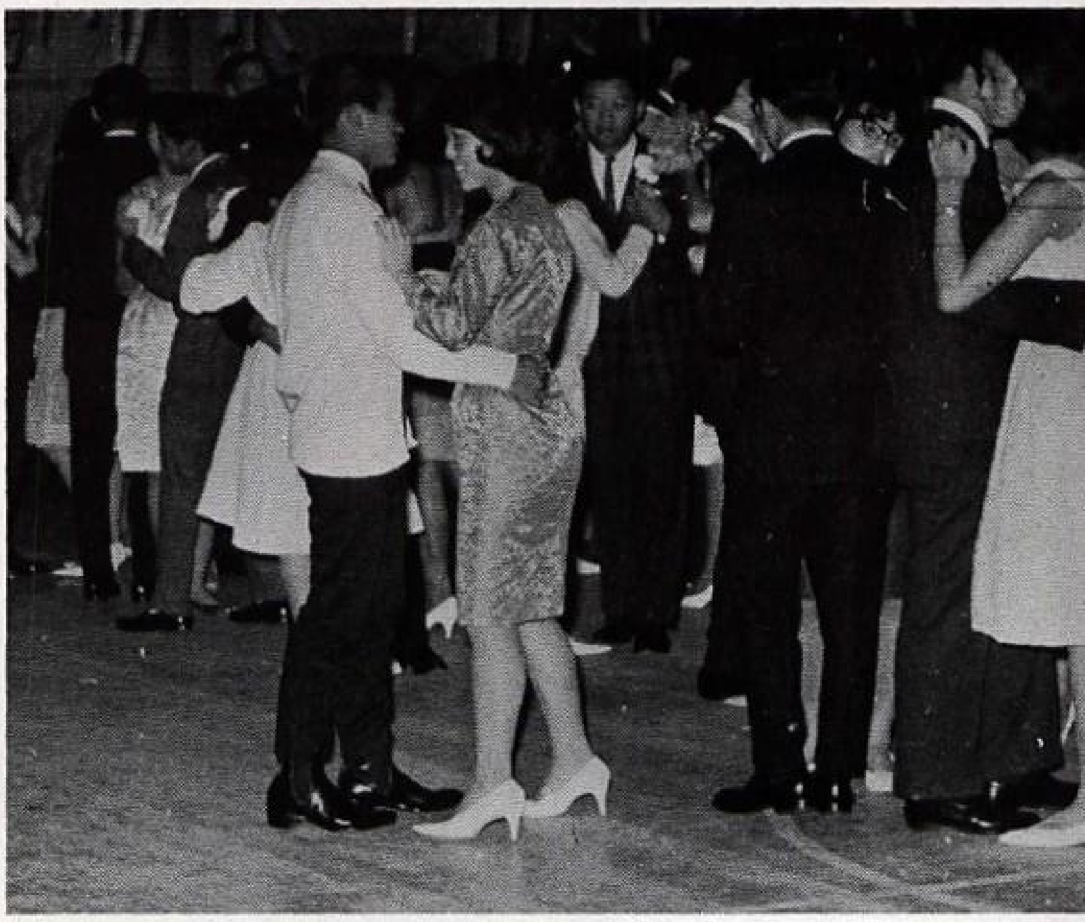
Fun and Friendship

On September 25, 1965, the first of the Fun Nites was held. Casually dressed students, 870 en masse, danced to the groovy sounds of the Torquays and the Four Forwards belting out "beat" numbers in the school gymnasium. Beatle platters magnified by stereo—yea! yea! yea! filled the air. This was the all-important Sophomore Fun Nite. As part of initiation into high school socials, Sophs danced on a sheet of newspaper which steadily decreased in size—walking two steps forward and two steps backwards for a wild relay race.

At "Watusi '65" the "Homecoming Hop," and the "Varsity Sock Hop" gyrating bodies, twitching pelves, jerking necks, the Swim, the Surf and the Monkey were evident as everyone had that crazy feeling that they could dance until dawn.



Committee efficiency



Strips of lavender, ice blue and orchid crepe paper used to form a false paper ceiling, cast strange, abstract figures on the wall as they swayed in the evening breeze. Mystical masks, illuminated by colored lights, set the mood for an evening never-to-be-forgotten. Eerie, strangely beautiful, almost compelling, the decorations were a product of hard work by co-chairman of this event, Irma Yamaguchi, Robert Jitchaku and their diligent working committee.

"Charade," the annual Senior Class Dance held on October 24, held promises of a night of mystical charm . . . Master of Ceremonies was Wayne Hayashi.

leads to lasting memories

"WINTRY ESCAPADE"

Red and silver luminous foil, a sprinkling of angel hair, colorful dimmed lights, miniature candy canes suspended from the elegantly decorated ceiling waiting to be removed by each boy and girl after the last dance . . . an elaborately decorated stage which served as the perfect setting for the evening's special guests, the Casuals . . . listening to the groovy sounds and moving with every beat of these wild drums; that funny sensation running up your spine—quickening your pulse beat . . . all this made the Junior Class Dance a night to remember.

Event-filled Week

It started with a BANG and ended with a BOOM!

Monday, November 9, the day we discovered the hidden talents of our football team at a lunch hour rally as they sang and played musical instruments.

Tuesday, the day we wore the Viking colors with loyalty and pride; obeyed the whims and wishes of the football gridirons.

Thursday, the day the boys surprised everyone with a "game" against a team of girls.

Friday, the night of the bonfire and dance. We watched the towering pile of lumber ignite into a furnace, and joined hands in friendship.

Saturday, the big day. A Homecoming motorcade, the all important game. We cheered wildly and observed admiringly, the coronation of Queen LaVerne Higa and her court. A day of memories.

Too soon, the Week Ended

It was Senior Week.

Things got off to a roaring start as the campus was flooded with mint green and black on Class Color Day, Monday, Feb. 8. A lunch time assembly officially opened the gates of fun and privileges and senior boys were granted the privileges of command over the opposite sex.

Tuesday, saw the Seniors looking ridiculous—which was appropriate since it was Clash Day. Dressed in every imaginable combination of colors and designs, they presented a weird portrait.

On Wednesday, the campus overflowed with Indians, cowboys, Mexicans, hobos, shy Japanese geishas, and hardworking laborers, for it was International or Masquerade Day. The hat contest held during the noon recess was beyond compare.

Professor Higgins and Eliza, Humpty Dumpty, Robin Hood and Friar Tuck, Anna and the King of Siam, Frankenstein the Monster, and Mary Poppins were part of the literature characters who represented 19 senior English classes in the Lit Wit Contest on Thursday, Casual Day.

Too soon, the week ended on a serious note with Friday Dress Up Day for seniors who arrived in their Sunday best. A final assembly was held during the fifth period with guest speaker, Dr. Markey, Professor at the University of Hawaii, speaking on "The Role the Class of '65 will play in the world."

The abutment of the arch receives the thrust of the arch. There are many varieties of abutments, each with their own personality, that add color and individuality to the arch. ORGANIZATIONS

St. Playhouse

Organized to develop skills in theatrics and to advance standards of excellence in drama, the Hilo High Student Playhouse met every other Tuesday.

At a Christmas pageant presented in the pool area on December 18, the traditional Christmas story about the birth of Christ was enacted with an assist from the Chorus singing excerpts from the "Messiah" as well as such popular carols as "Away in the Manger" and "Silent Night."

Playhouse Members and the Hilo High School Thespian Troupe 707 spent many hours on the April production of Kaufman and Hart's "The Man Who Came to Dinner" directed by Michael Gibbons. The student-faculty production was staged to raise funds for an annual Hilo High School Student Scholarship Fund.

The Radio Club

Morse Code plays a major role as an international language for radio operators the world over. Realizing this, the 76 dedicated young men of the Radio Club spent three months from October to December mastering its techniques. Members also worked on individual club projects both at home and at school.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Haruwo Yamamoto, the club made plans for the establishment of their own radio station in the school radio shack to be operated by licensed "ham" operators.

Led by officers Glenn Murakami, president; Norman Shiroma, vice president; Gerald Takemura, secretary; Ted Haraguchi, treasurer; and adviser Mr. Shuichi Tanaka, they progressed from radio theory to licensing.

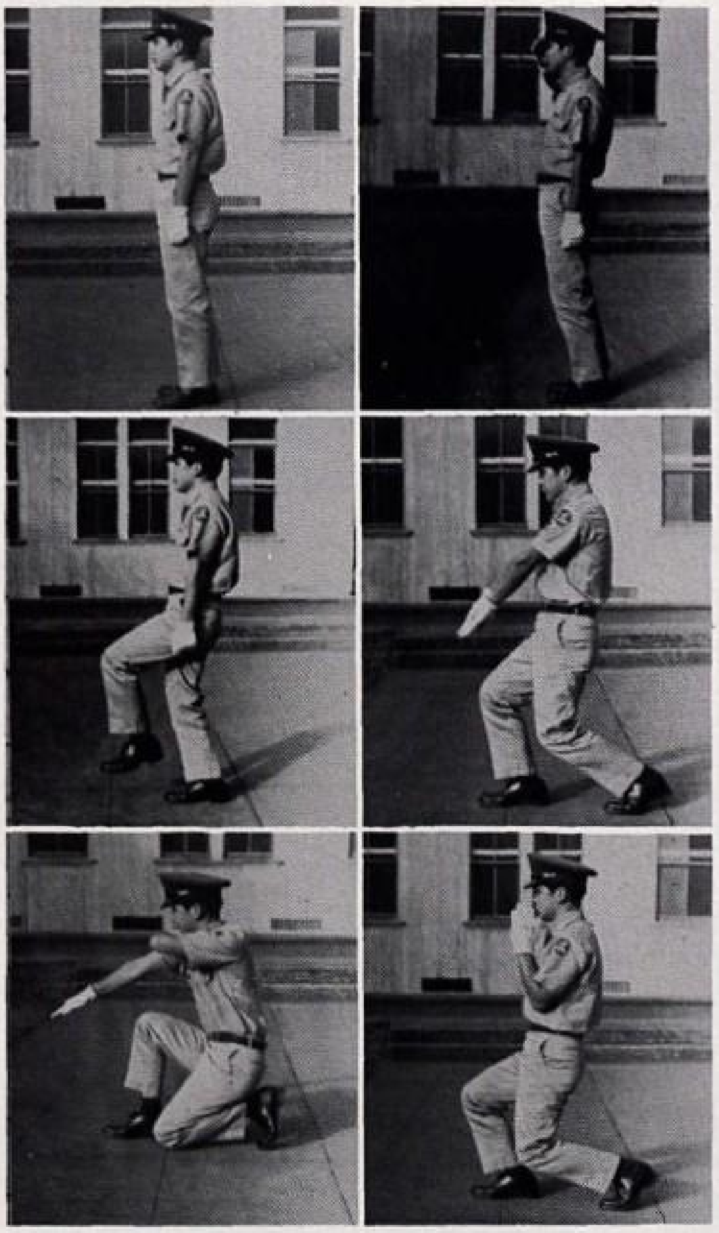
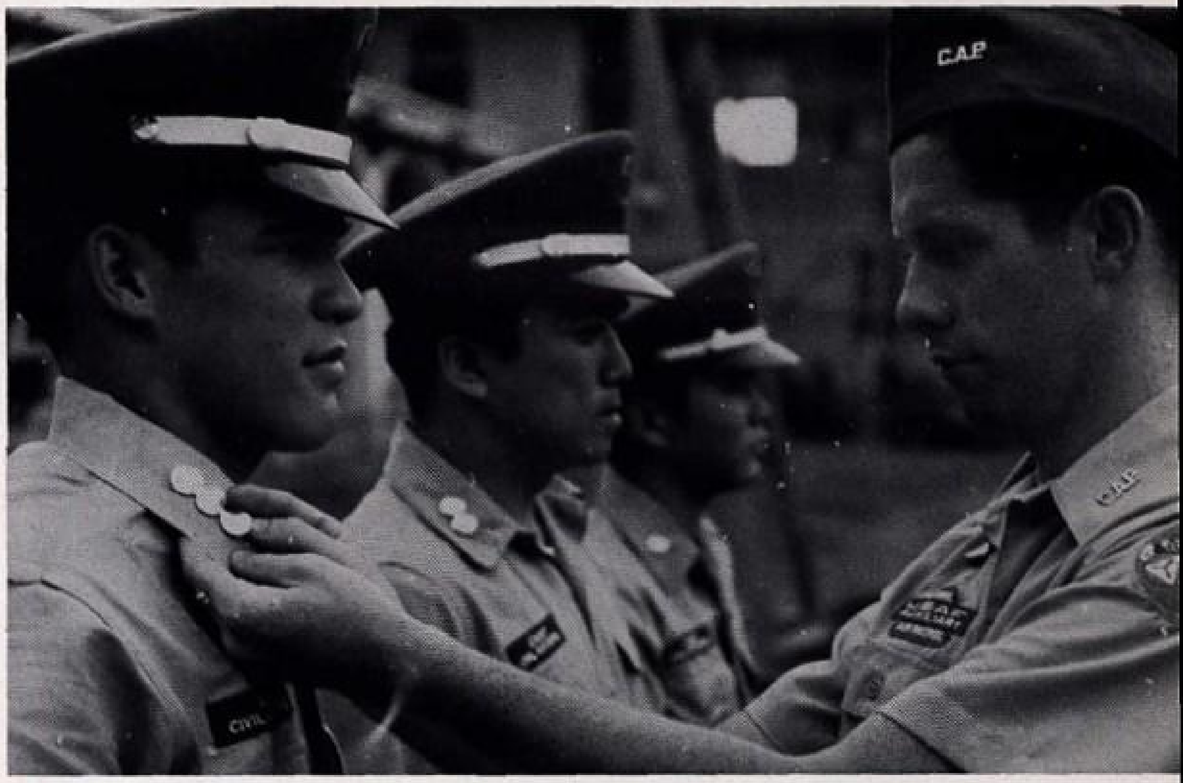
The CAP





"Attention!"

At the command, thirty immaculately dressed young men and women snapped to rigid attention, every Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 to 3:30 p.m. These CAP members, young men and women, had one thing in common, a sincere interest in the United States Air Force.

Besides basic training, members also participated in Joint Training Operation with Castle High School of Honolulu, in March, the Commander's Conference at Maryknoll School, in April, and the State Drill Team Competitions in May. Both were held in Honolulu, Oahu.

Classroom tools are usually pen or pencil, a notebook, paper, an eraser, but for 90 boys, hoes, spades, picks, shovels and a wheelbarrow were also standard classroom equipment. The FFA members of our agriculture classes, spent the year doing everything from de-beaking chicks to trimming Christmas trees.

Following a full schedule of events, they started off their activities in September by attending a leadership conference in Kau, Hawaii. November saw the boys enjoying the fruits of their labor at a chicken hekka party here in school. Their year end banquet was held at Sun Sun Lau.

During the President's Day weekend, 24 members enjoyed a field trip to the City of Refuge in Hoonaunau, Kona. They began their journey at 7:30 on a cold Saturday morning and traveled to Kona via a Laupahoehoe bus. Not at all fatigued by the long three hour drive, members enjoyed a tour conducted by Mr. Ladd who spoke of "Kapu" systems and superstitions of ancient Hawaiians. Of much interest, also was their study of tidal pools along the coastline. They observed sea life in these pools and tried to classify them. They took note of the condition of the water trapped in these hollows. Tired but contented, they returned to Hilo that evening, satisfied with the knowledge they gained.

"The Search For Peace in a Divided World."

With this "target" for the 1964-1965 in mind, the 188 members of the PAAC began a full year of activities. Three conferences held during the year were at Pahoa High (December 12), Hilo High (February 27), and Honokaa High (April 3).

on campus on February 27, and asked Dr. Werner Levi, from the political science department of the University of Hawaii Manoa Campus, to be their main speaker. Resource people included Dr. Edward Beechert and Louis Warsh from the U of H Hilo Campus.

Enriching and inspiring, the year also held a pleasant surprise when Donald Gowing, senior plant physiologist at C. Preserving Ancient Traditions

March 22 marked the beginning of Latin Week. A chariot race in the Oval, a fashion parade featuring "gods" and "goddesses" modeling their own unique creations, and a talent show planned by students of adviser Mrs. Elizabeth Murray's different Latin Classes were features of this special week.

Magistra, Murray began the annual Roman Banquet in June, with the introduction of Jupiter, Juno and other gods and goddesses. Partaking of food fit for the "gods", toga and palla clad JCL members enjoyed such Roman fare as ham, country bread, juice of the grape, sweet meats, fruits, olives and other tempting items.

The members met together this year to learn more about the civilization, language, literature and art of ancient Greece and Rome, and also gained an understanding of the debt our culture owed that classical antiquity.

Enjoyment of all that is France

Lovely, romantic France . . . the beautiful Louvre . . . the celebrated Riviera . . . the quaint sidewalk cafes. All this and more were enjoyed vicariously by the 45 filles et garcons of Le Cercle Francais. Room 27 often resounded with the strains of lilting French ballads sung in ear-pleasing harmony. Password games en francais of course, informal discussion and educational activities, a Christmas party, and a luncheon made for tres intérresant assemblies.

Guiding and directing the members were officers: Susan Ota, president; Chris Matsuno, Cory Sodetani, vice-presidents; Florence Maebo, secretary; Mary lou Victor, treasurer; and Mrs. Constance Wence, their la coneilliure—adviser.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis, the Key Club served both Hilo High and the community. The big activity for the year was the initiation, held with their "sister club", the Sub-Debs. During December, members of both groups also went caroling to cheer up patients at the Geriatrics Center of the Hilo Memorial Hospital. As part of their desire to serve, the boys helped in the preparation and carrying out of the P.A.A.C. Conference.

On March 21, adviser Kiyoto Horiuchi, accompanied 14 members to the state conference in Honolulu, Oahu. Winners of the Conference then attended a National Conference held in Chicago, Illinois in May.

The little white sphere swiftly traversed the dark green platform each time barely missing the thin brown mesh that divided the platform.

This was ping pong. The Girls Table Tennis Club had 24 members; the boys 32. The girls participated in various tournaments from December through February. The boys singles and doubles eliminations, played the UHHC in the middle of the year and celebrated their victories at a year-end party.

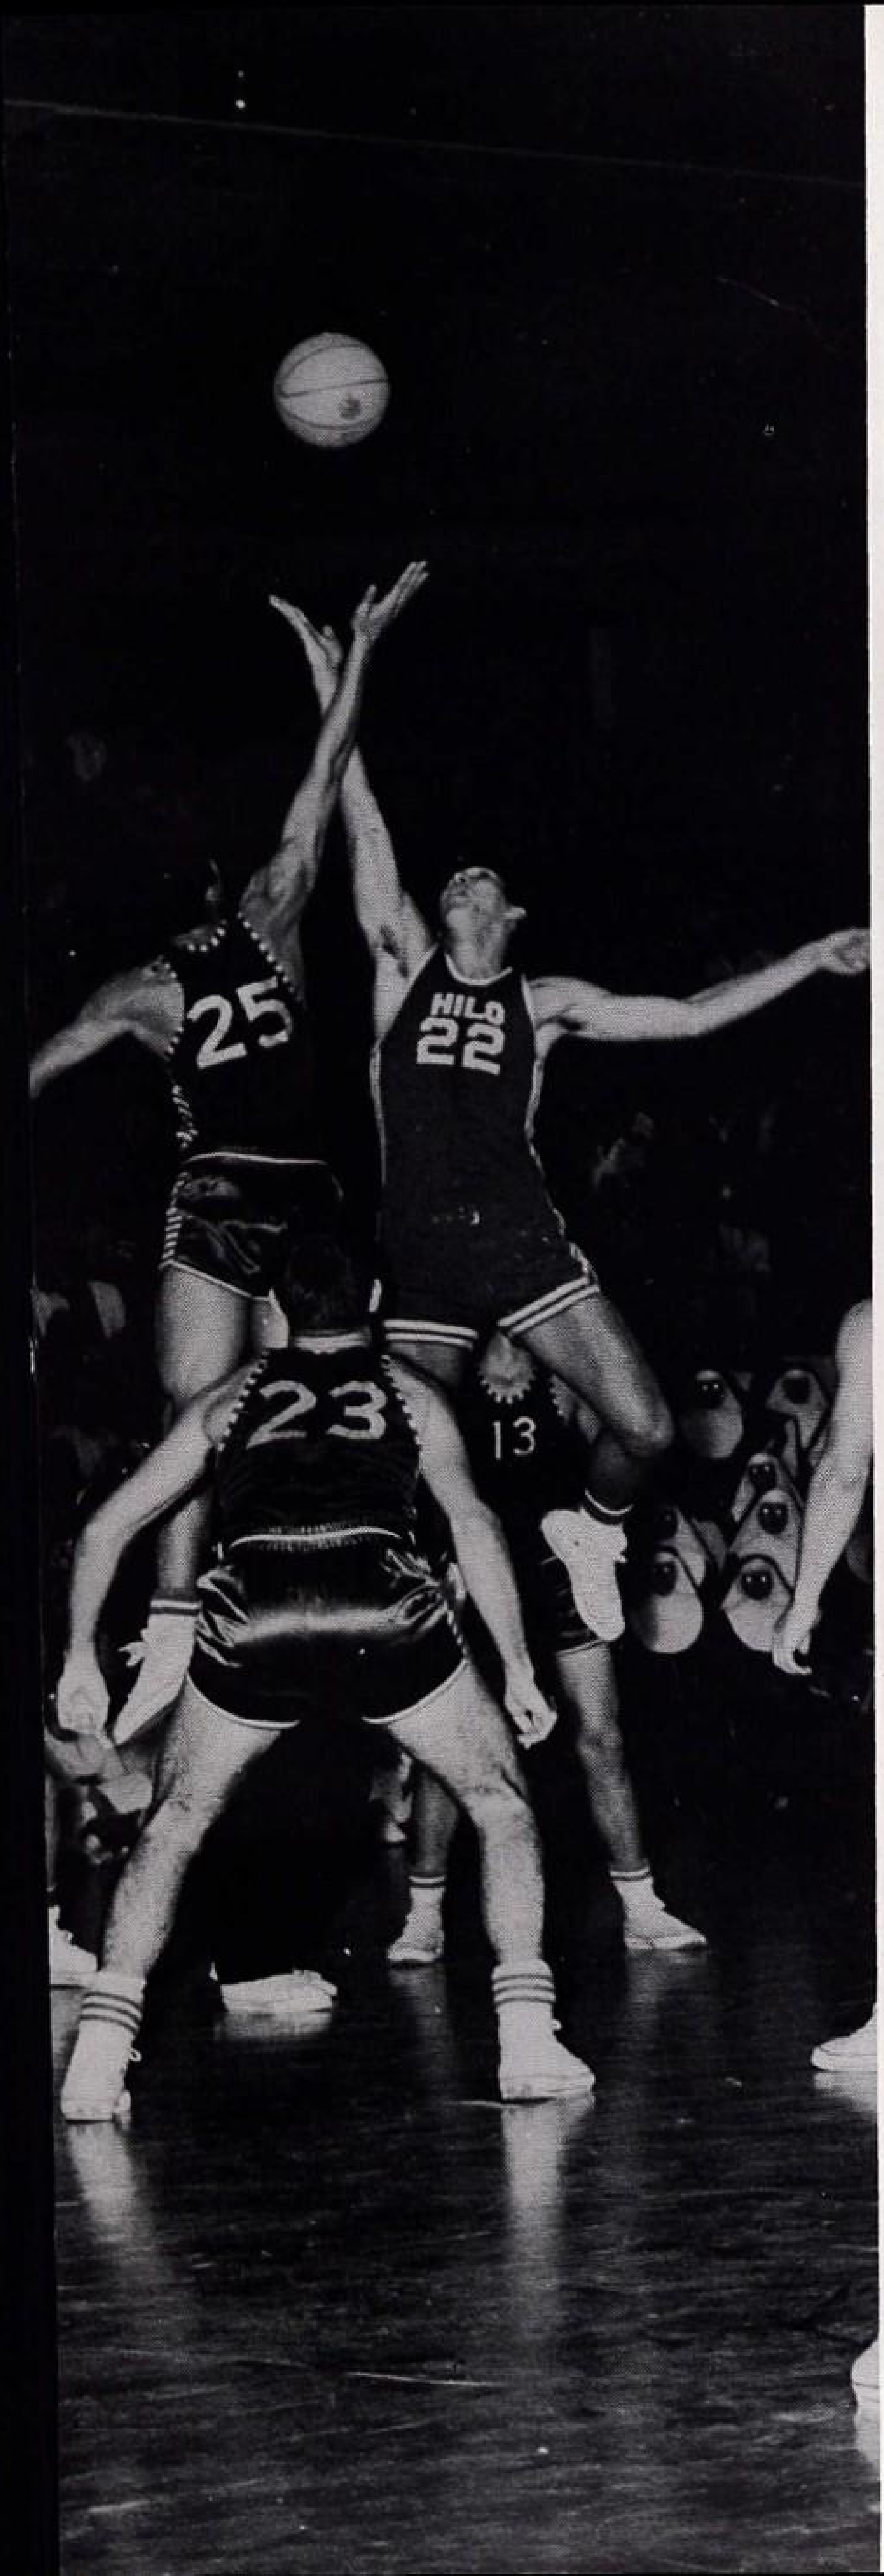
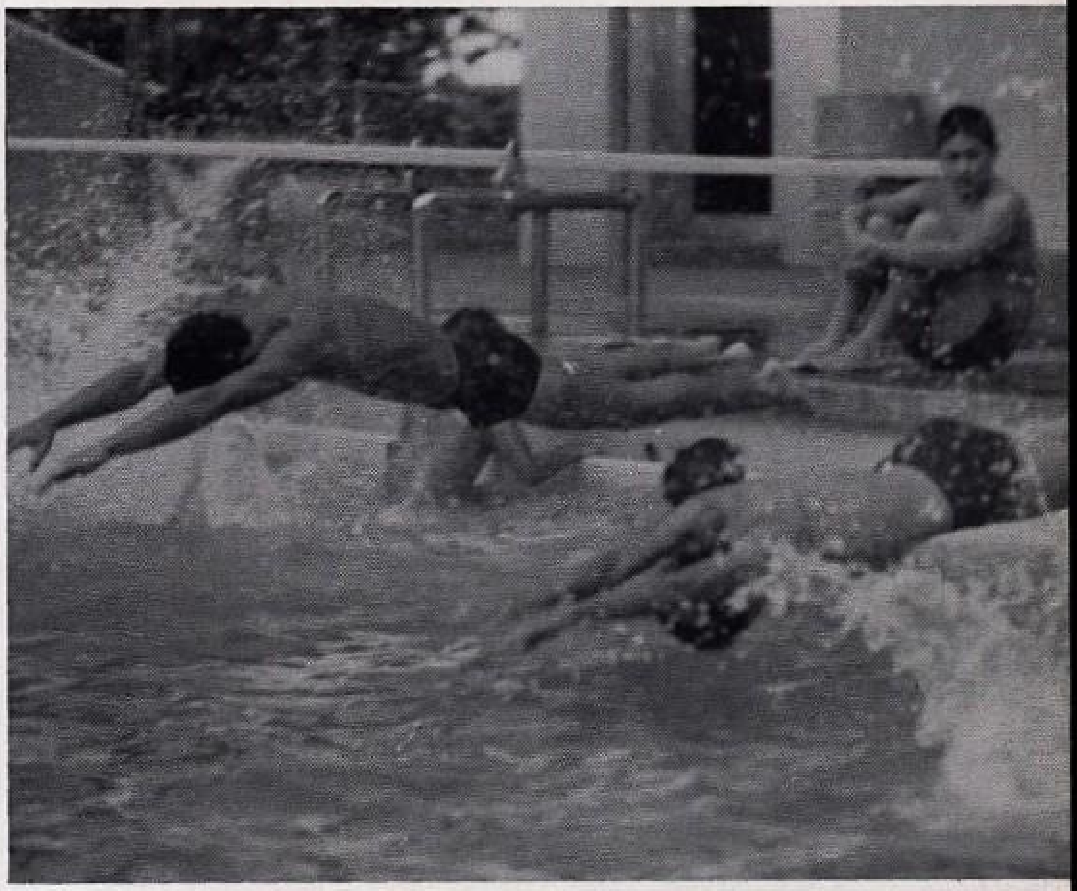
SPORTS





The simple, unique, outstanding structure of the arch today is the result of years of "hit and miss" experimentation and detailed planning. Countless hours of toil, worry and wonder went into its design. Like the design of the arch, SPORTS at Hilo High School — basketball, baseball, football, track, swimming, tennis, volleyball — are also the products of countless hours of tedious work, exercising, planning, and training. They too have proven to be outstanding.

The MIL Gridiron Story

Crippled with many serious injuries, the 1964 Viking Maui Interscholastic League defending Champions under coaches Gordon Chang and Basillio Fuertes, ended the football season with six losses in eight games, compared to 1963's unblemished mark of eight wins.

Running into St. Anthony in their season opener, the Vikes triumphed 28-14 with three touchdowns scored by Edwin Rapozo.

The next five conference meetings found the Bluangolds on the short side of the score but they pulled off a 24-20 come-from-behind upset victory over Maui High on Halloween.

In their season finals against arch-rivals Baldwin High, the Viks dropped a heart-breaking 19-13 decision.

Fans got a big thrill on Thanksgiving Eve when Hilo white-washed Hawaii Prep, the BIIF Champions, 14-0 in the big post-season classic.

The "Never Say Die" Viking Eleven

With a new coach in former Honokaa mentor Ted Ura, the Blue & Gold gridders of the Big Island Interscholastic Federation eleven gave it their all and put up a stiff resistance all season long against overwhelming odds.

Out-weighed with no experience what-so-ever, the courageous young chargers battled their older veteran foes with a stubborn "never-say-die" spirit, which on several occasions nearly carried them on to victory.

However, fundamental mistakes in the basics of the game inevitably led to their undoing. If not for this key factor, the BIIF Viks would have upset several teams including the Kohala Cowboys and the Kau Trojans.

Though beaten in every conference outing, the rookie players gained valuable seasoning in learning to take punishment and breaks under fire. Those who will be brought up to the traveling Maui Inter-scholastic League team next Fall will be poised and polished in all phases of football.

They have learned what it is to lose with dignity and will try to teach this same lesson to the Valley Islanders when the '65 football campaign commences.

In the BIIF Round Robin, the Viks eliminated Kona by a 66-41 count. In the big championship game between Hilo and its cross-town rivals Saint Joseph's, the Bluangolds lost 71-60, thus finishing in second place behind the Redbirds. (by Wayne Hayashi).

Cheerleaders & Majorettes

Under the guidance of Michael Gibbons and the 1964-65 cheering squad, quite a few new songs and cheers were adopted, along with acrobatics and fancy drill. For the first time in Hilo High history, three boys were added to our six yell queens.

Clad in rich gold velveteen vests which accented their short full royal blue skirts, the majorettes performed during the half-time at football and basketball games. Using snappy routines they had worked out during their practices, two afternoons a week, they twirled to music provided by either the Hilo or Hawaii County bands or recordings. We faced various challenges

As Graduates

I sing of ". . . Alma Mater mine . . ." and feel the warmth of that little tear trickling down my cheek, remembering the pleasant memories that made our Senior year. My trembling voice among the jubilant, the melancholy, the dazed—these voices of the Class of '65, here at Commencement Exercises, June 8, 1965.

Our school Alma Mater sung with loyalty at the end of all those football games, the disappointed team—we had lost again but ever so gallantly: repeated so often throughout the year, tonight meant more than "boys, we're still with you." It meant . . .

"Beneath the tropic skies of Hilo" in sometimes rainy, but usually balmy weather amidst those aged coconut trees . . .

Stands dear old Hilo High School;" with those wonderful corners — Pepeekeo, Papaikou, Surfers, etc., and those dreamy madra, parka clad boys that filled them.

"Dearer ever shall it grow" how attached we got to our new library, irresistible Hot Stuff, the privilege of having a locker at a comfortable height.

"With the spirit of Blue and Gold;" defying those Junior C.P.O.'s, yelling "Banzai" from our Senior cheering section.

"In our hearts we hold thee Alma Mater mine," and the important events and the myriads of emotions that accompanied them. "Charade"—a white boutonniere, a yellow rose bouquet, and three gigantic silver masks; our week in February—dressing up, and dressing down; performing for the Variety Show, selling tickets to the disinterested and begging our unenthusiastic parents to see the "bestest" show. In May it was longing, that a certain someone would ask you to the Diploma Ball, and for the boys, that their certain someone would accept. That wish comes true; we enjoy dim lights, and extravagant decorations. Soon there was laughter and "ono" opihi—the Senior Luau.

Now faltering up and down the stage stairs, singing the Alma Mater, reminiscing, anticipating, wondering . . . for some this means college; for others the search for a job, a home, and security. As we commence upon our individual ventures, we pledge loyalty and honor to our beloved high school.

"Loyalty and honor shall forever more be thine." (by Cheryl Ann Fuke)

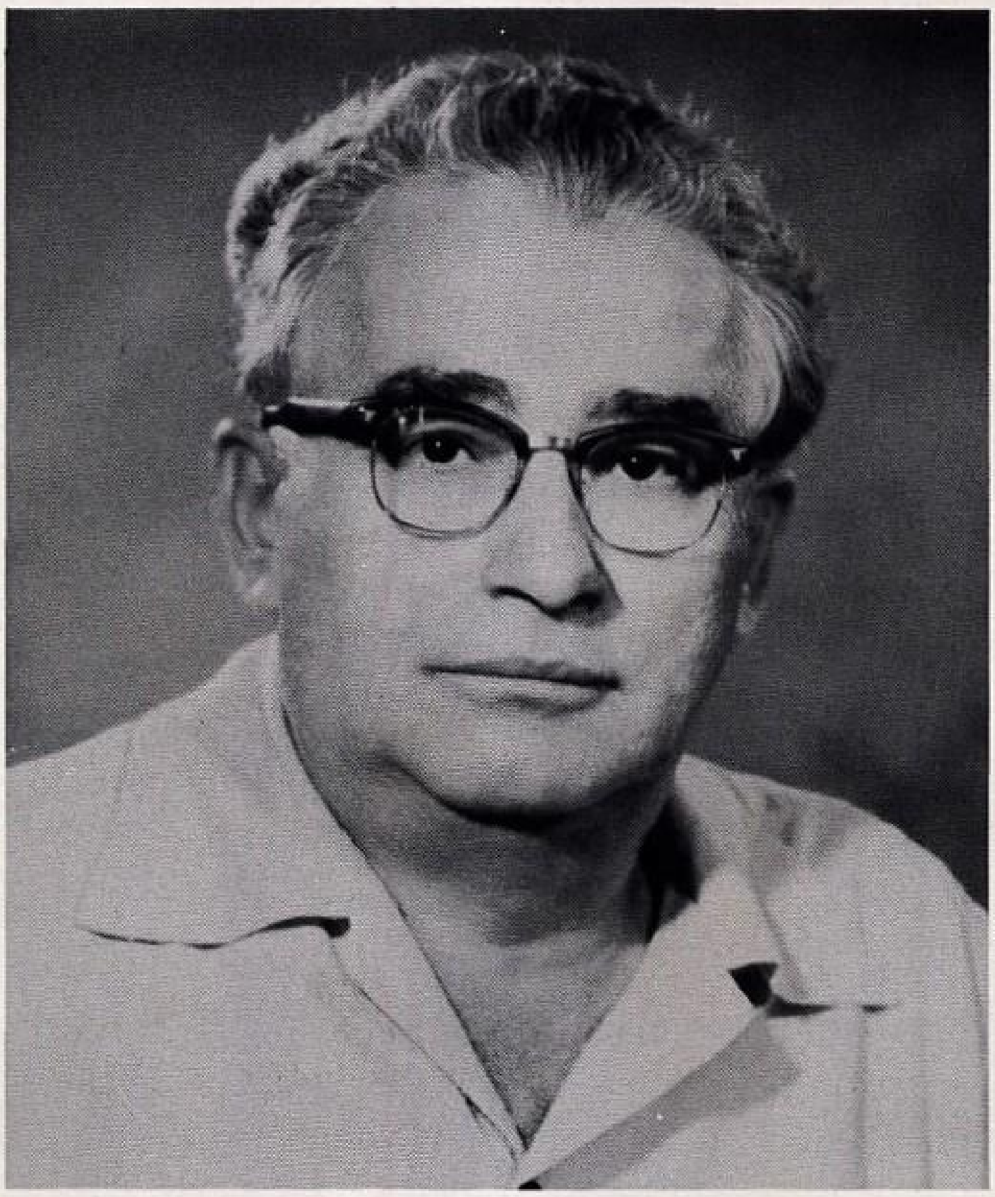
Mr. Urban Carvalho

April 7, 1911 - February 26, 1965



No more will we hear him spinning humorous tales of his life and revealing his fantastic library of quips and jokes.

No more will his experienced hands be conducting our school band playing songs that touched the hearts of true Vikings.

No more will we see his smile, his light-footed walk, his grayish hair, his cheerful "hello's."

Our bandmaster, Urban Carvalho, has left us and gone to another land where, we hope, he will find the contentment and peace that he so rightfully deserved.

Death claimed the life of our beloved band teacher on Friday, February 26; that is a day that will be remembered by all. Mr. Carvalho gave so much of himself to the students and the people of the Hilo community.

His love of music knew no boundaries, and his willingness to share this love was just as limitless.

His family founded the first Hawaii County Band. At the age of 15, he played in this band which was then under the direction of Frank J. Vierra. He spent his high school years at St. Louis High School in Honolulu and graduated from there in 1930.

After attending Ithaca College in New York where he received a BS degree in instrumental music, Mr. Carvalho returned to Hilo and played in the County Band from 1935 to 1943. Appointed its bandmaster in May 1943, he served in that capacity until January of 1963.

Hilo High's graduates and students will remember him as their Concert Bandmaster. He started the Concert Band back in 1939 when he first came here to teach.

Gone is he now from the old band room, but the dedication and joy that Mr. Carvalho put into his teaching will remain permanently in our memory.
